

Literature reflects the world

Writers have intentions

Words create change

Language has layers of meaning

Writing is a craft

